American General Life Companies Announces Peter Delehanty as Senior Vice President, Marketing Delehanty to provide strategic marketing direction to Life, Annuity and Accident & Health

HOUSTON, June 7, 2010 — American General Life Companies (American General) announced today that Peter Delehanty has joined as senior vice president of marketing for the life, annuity and accident & health businesses.

Delehanty will be responsible for all marketing and product management activities, including marketing strategies, research, analysis, promotion and management of American General products. Additionally, he will lead the development of a strategic marketing direction that translates into business-building strategies and integrated marketing programs.

"We're excited Peter has joined our organization and I know he will prove to be an incredible asset," said Mary Jane Fortin, president and CEO. "American General is a trusted carrier of a wide array of products, and Peter is poised to leverage our existing partnerships and identify new market opportunities as part of our continued growth."

Delehanty brings more than 30 years of experience to American General, most recently as chief marketing officer and vice president, marketing for institutional markets at Hartford Life Insurance Company. Delehanty earned his bachelor's degree in marketing communications from the University of Oregon and holds FINRA Series 7, 24 and 63 licenses.

American General Life Companies, www.americangeneral.com, is the marketing name for the insurance companies and affiliates comprising the domestic life operations of American International Group, Inc.
